Chickens@Your Library?

An experimental series of Do-It-Yourself workshops for adults began in May with “Build-Your-Own-Chicken Coop.” Local handy guys “Web and Fred” demonstrated how to build a coop with just a few materials.

Volunteers donned hammers and screw guns to assemble the coop (which was raffled off to a lucky participant). Due to popular demand this seasonal workshop returns next spring. Other D.I.Y. workshops are in the making, so stay tuned.

Creative Summer

Since this summer’s theme is about getting creative and expressing ourselves at the library, there is programming for all ages: an art exhibit by our own creative staff and a spray art exhibit by local artist Tye Kaufman.

Watch for the transformation of the Redmond Public Library and see us strut our stuff in the Redmond Fourth of July Parade!

Why Do You Volunteer?

The Deschutes Public Library thrives in part because of the generosity of its volunteers. We asked volunteers at the Sunriver Area Public Library what motivates them:

“I love the library and feel it’s important to help.”

“I love to read. Volunteering makes me feel good to be doing something to help others.”

“I need to be around books and ‘book people.’”

“I like the opportunity to see what’s new in the library’s collection.”

“I like to support an important community resource.”

“I love starting my week out in the library—it’s good for the soul!”

Why do you volunteer? The Sunriver Area Public Library needs more help shelving materials. Please contact Diana at dianap@dpls.us or 541-312-1080 for more information. Thanks!
